

MARKETING

ASSISTANT PRODUCT LINE MANAGER

ITT Industries-McDonnell & Miller is an established manufacturing company located on the northwest side of Chicago. We are a division of a Fortune 200 firm, and are a leading producer of HVAC controls. We presently have an opportunity for an experienced marketing professional to join our team.

The successful applicant will support marketing programs and projects for level and flow control products to increase product sales and margins. This will encompass various marketing management functions, including: involvement with product change requests/orders, sales literature and communications, pricing administration, reporting, and acting as liaison with internal/external sales organizations.

Candidates should possess a thorough familiarity with modern marketing and sales methods. Experience should include three years in technical sales, distribution/wholesale/OEM sales, engineering or manufacturing supervision, in an HVAC product environment. Bachelor degree minimum. Interested, qualified candidates may forward their resumes (with salary history) to:
